

Toys Hill Explorer (4 miles)

With breath taking views across Kent, Toys Hill, one of the places that inspired Octavia Hill to found the National Trust, is just the place to take a walk at any time of the year. This short 4-mile walk takes you through the best of the surrounding countryside, up hills and through woods, to the beautiful National Trust property at Emmets Garden. There is a café there if you want rest and refreshments.

If you have more time, it is easy to add on a visit to Chartwell, previously the home of Winston Churchill.

Start point: Toys Hill Car park, National Trust, Toys Hill Road, Westerham
